BALTIMORE WALK MUCH DISCUSSED

Mr. Hibbs Reads The Times. and Give His Time—The Jaunts Suggested.

Editor Washington Times: In your issue of April 19, in recount ing the walk of Otis H. Gates from White, of England.
Union Station, Washington, to Camden Even with his m Union Station, Washington, to Camden Station, Baltimore, by the pike, on April 18, in nine hours, the statement leads that "there is a tradition that" ven hours and forty minutes, but Mr. Gates says he can find no record of the fact and that he believes his time is the best that has ever been made."

fact and that he believes his time is the best that has ever been made."

I would respectfully invite attention to the publication in the Washington newspapers of March 23 of accounts of the walk of Louis Molnar, of the Navy Department, from Camden Station to Union Station, over the route taken by Mr. Gates on March 27, against a head wind of fourteen miles an hour (Weather Burrau records), in seven hours and fortynine minutes, the pace averaging if while an hour for the whole trip.

Mr. Molnar's distance for the first hour of the trip, in which he endeavored to make a record for an hour on that road, was over six and a half miles an hour, or under mine and three-tenths minutes to the mile. Mr. Molnar was accompanied by one witness on a bicycle with cyclometer and his time taken by that witness and another at each end of the journey.

I might mention that on April 11 Mr. Molnar left Aqueduct bridge at 11:05 at m. and reached Great Falls, by the townath, at 1:28, or two hours and twentythee minutes. Mr. J. B. Smallwood, Mr. H. O'Nell, H. M. Anderson, C. B. Brown, and myself on trips about the adjacent country of from fifteen to twanty-five miles, during which the pace is from four to five miles an hour. Ordect, recreation.

A record of nine hours to Baitimore is a good one, and he must be a good walker who undertakes it lalone, as Mr. Gates did.
